DESCRIPTION

The story of this beautiful property brings to our mind a multi-ethnic area, in the center of Bucharest, on a street with a fairly long distance, from Mantuleasa Street, then intersecting Calea Calarasilor and reaching Labirint Street. The area is still picturesque today, and still preserves the houses of some members of the middle class.

The heritage building, class B historical monument, was consolidated, restored, rehabilitated and remodeled inside, according to the architectural plans of the architect Serban Sturdza in a complex process that was completed in 2016.

The mansion received again the beauty it had once and also, a special, contemporary comfort. The attic represents the great revelation of the house, a spectacular creation, unique in the Bucharest architectural space.

The consolidation and restoration works lasted 8 years and were carried out with meticulousness, the carpentry, hardware, mosaic works and stone being impeccably reconditioned.
